CENSUS OF ENGLAND AND WALES, 1911.

SUMMARY TABLES.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

(1) Unless otherwise stated, the population figures both for 1901 and 1911, given throughout the tables, relate to the areas as constituted at the latter date.

(2) Particulars of changes in area that took place between the date of the Census and 30th June, 1912, are shown in footnotes.

(3) The acreage quoted in the several Tables, is that of land and inland water together, exclusive of tidal water and foreshore; the figures are derived from the latest returns furnished by the Director-General of Ordnance Surveys.

(4) Persons on board vessels which were in the ports of England and Wales on the night of Sunday, April 2nd, 1911, or arrived there on the following day are, with certain exceptions, included in the population for the country as a whole, and are also distributed, with as much accuracy as the information obtained allows, to the several local areas. Fishermen who were at sea on the night of the Census and did not arrive in port on Monday, April 3rd, are not included in the returns of Population. The approximate numbers of absent fishermen on vessels belonging to the several ports, are given in Table 21.

(5) The numbers of "Families or Separate Occupiers" given in these Tables are equivalent to the numbers of Schedules collected.

NOTE.—The population at each Census 1801 to 1831 is exclusive of the Army, Royal Navy, and Merchant Service at home and abroad; for 1841 the population includes the Army at home, men on shore belonging to the Royal Navy or to the Merchant Service, and, in a few cases, persons on board vessels in harbours; the population at each Census 1851 to 1911 includes the Army at home, men on shore belonging to the Royal Navy or to the Merchant Service, and all persons on board vessels in port on Census night or arriving the following day.

* In computing the decennial rate of increase the varying lengths of the intercensal periods have been taken into account, and the rates for the periods 1831–1841 and 1841–1851 have been further corrected by the exclusion of the Army, Navy, and Merchant Service from the population for 1841, and of the persons on board vessels from the population for 1851.

† In computing the proportion of females to males, 1801–1831, the following estimate of the numbers of men in the Army, Navy, and Merchant Service at home has been adopted:—

Year	1801.	1811.	1821.	1831.
Estimated number of male	131,818	145,137	87,740	78,968

TABLE 2.—ENGLAND AND WALES.—POPULATION, exclusive of the ARMY, ROYAL NAVY and MARINES, and MERCHANT SEAMEN, SERVING ABROAD, estimated to the MIDDLE of each YEAR 1801 to 1911.

NOTES.—(1) The population for each year from 1801 to 1840 was estimated from the probable increase deduced from the annual excess of Baptisms over Burials, and from the population enumerated at each Census (see Census Report for 1851, Vol. I, p. xxix). From 1841 to 1911, the population for each year has been estimated from the rates of increase in the various intercensal periods as shown by the several enumerations.

(2) In the Report on the Census of 1901, the corresponding Table is numbered 5 in Appendix A to the General Report.

TABLE 3.—PARLIAMENTARY COUNTIES.—AREA, and POPULATION at each successive CENSUS.

NOTES.—(1) The figures in this Table for Censuses prior to 1881, with but few and unimportant exceptions (in which cases the necessary corrections for changes in boundaries could not be carried out), relate to the areas of the Parliamentary Counties as constituted in 1885 by the operation of the Redistribution of Seats Act of that year.

* The County Boroughs are generally included with those Counties in which, for the purposes of the Local Government Act, 1888, they are deemed to be situated. The County Boroughs of Bristol, Great Yarmouth, and Stockport, each of which is deemed to be in two Counties, are, however, wholly included in Gloucestershire, Norfolk and Cheshire respectively, these being the Counties in which the populations of the several Boroughs are mainly included. The County Borough of York, which is deemed to be situated in each of the three Ridings of Yorkshire, is, however, shown separately.

TABLE 11.—URBAN DISTRICTS, INCLUDING COUNTY AND OTHER MUNICIPAL BOROUGHS.—AREA; FAMILIES OR SEPARATE OCCUPIERS, 1901 AND 1911; POPULATION (PERSONS, MALES, FEMALES), 1901 AND 1911; AND INCREASE OR DECREASE PER CENT. IN POPULATION, 1901–11.

NOTES.—(1) The Urban Districts are arranged alphabetically, those which are County or Municipal Boroughs being indicated by the letters C.B. or M.B.

(2) Urban Districts marked * have been created, the boundaries of those marked † have been altered and the names of those marked ‡ have been changed since the Census of 1901; for particulars of the changes see foot notes to Table 10, Volume I.

(3) The population figures, both for 1901 and 1911, relate to the areas as constituted at the latter date.

(4) In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is numbered XI. in the Summary Volume.

a Excluding an area of 2·4 acres, on which stand the Shirehall, County Police Station, &c., comprising 3 separate occupiers and 12 persons (4 males and 8 females) which for convenience is included in Blofield Rural District. As some doubt existed as to the parochial status of this area the Norfolk County Council issued an Order on 13th April, 1901, adding it to the Blofield Rural District, but this Order has not been confirmed by the Local Government Board.

a By Local Government Board Order No. 56,590, which came into operation on the 1st October, 1911, Withernsea Urban District was extended to include part of Patrington Rural District. The figures at the date of the Census for the Urban District as extended were as follows:—

b Including, for convenience, York Castle, the figures for which were as follows:—

TABLE 12.—RURAL DISTRICTS.—AREA; FAMILIES OR SEPARATE OCCUPIERS 1901 AND 1911; POPULATION (PERSONS, MALES, FEMALES) 1901 AND 1911; AND INCREASE OR DECREASE PER CENT. IN POPULATION 1901–11.

NOTES.—(1) The Rural Districts are arranged alphabetically; the boundaries of those marked † have been changed since the Census of 1901; for particulars of the changes see footnotes to Table 10, Volume I.
(2) The Population figures both for 1901 and 1911 relate to the areas as constituted at the latter date.
(3) In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is numbered XII. in the Summary Volume.

TABLE 14.—LARGE TOWNS.—POPULATION AT SIX SUCCESSIVE CENSUSES OF LONDON AND EACH METROPOLITAN BOROUGH, OF EACH COUNTY BOROUGH, AND OF EACH URBAN DISTRICT OF WHICH THE POPULATION EXCEEDED 50,000 PERSONS AT THE CENSUS OF 1911.

NOTES.—(1) The populations shown in the table relate to the Boroughs and Urban Districts as constituted at the date of the Census of 1911. In some cases in which Boroughs or Urban Districts had been created since 1861, or had been extended to include areas which were not entire civil parishes, it is impossible to ascertain their precise population, within the present limits, at each of the preceding Censuses. In such cases it has been necessary to estimate the effect of alterations of boundaries, and those figures in the Table which include any such estimate are printed in italic type; in most cases the portion estimated is relatively small, and cannot seriously affect the comparison of the totals for the districts.

(2) In the Report on the Census of 1901, the corresponding Table is numbered XIV in the Summary Volume.

* The figures printed in French type for the Metropolitan Boroughs relate to the several areas most nearly approximating to the Boroughs before the adjustment of their boundaries by the operation of Orders in Council issued, subject to and in accordance with the London Government Act, 1899. The various changes in the boundaries of parishes thus made were mostly small and have, therefore, been disregarded in the figures for Census years prior to 1891. As regards those transferred areas which are of more importance, viz., the portions of the formerly detached part of Chelsea added to Kensington and Paddington respectively, and the entire former parish of South Hornsey, which, with a slight exception, was added to the parish of Stoke Newington, their populations have been estimated for all the Census years prior to 1891, and the figures for the Boroughs affected have been adjusted accordingly.

TABLE 25.—REGISTRATION DIVISIONS AND COUNTIES.—AGGREGATE NUMBERS OF MARRIAGES, BIRTHS AND DEATHS REGISTERED IN EACH REGISTRATION DIVISION AND COUNTY DURING THE INTERCENSAL PERIOD 1901–1911; INCREASE OR DECREASE OF POPULATION COMPARED WITH DIFFERENCE BETWEEN BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

NOTES.—(1) Changes were made in the boundaries of some of the Registration Counties during the intercensal period. In all cases in which the change of boundary altered the population of the County the enumerated populations are given, first for the County as constituted at the Census of 1901 and then as constituted at each successive change. The dates from which the changed areas were adopted for tabulation of Births and Deaths are shown in the first column. In calculating the increase or decrease of population (Col. 7) approximate allowance has been made for variations caused by changes of boundary. Owing to this method of calculation the increase or decrease of population for those Counties which have undergone change differs slightly from that derivable from the figures in Table 24, which relates to those areas as constituted at the Census of 1911. Details of the changes will be found in Volume II., Table 6.

(2) No correction has been made in this Table for Deaths occurring in Public Institutions, which, in some cases, are sufficiently numerous to detract from the value of the comparison between the increase of Population and the excess of Births over Deaths.

(3) In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is numbered XVII in the Summary Volume.

OCCUPATIONS.

TABLES 48 to 65.

NOTE.—In classifying the people by their Occupations the following rules have been observed :—Persons returned as "Pensioners" or as "Retired" from any specified profession or business (except Officers of the Army or Navy) are included under the headings "Pensioners" or "Retired" (Order XXIII.). Inmates of Lunatic Asylums or of Workhouses, when returned as Insane and yet described by their former occupations, have—irrespective of age—been classed as "Retired"; so also have other Inmates of Workhouses aged 60 years and upwards whose former occupations were returned. Other Inmates of Institutions and Prisoners of all ages have been classed under their stated occupations on the assumption that their ordinary work has been relinquished for a time only. The former occupations of "Pensioners" and "Retired" are given for England and Wales in Table 53.

The numbers given under the headings for manufactures include Apprentices, Assistants, Workmen, and Labourers, as well as Masters, but exclude Messengers, Errand Boys, Porters (except if occupied in carrying materials in processes of manufacture), Watchmen, Engine Drivers and Stokers, Clerks, and Workmen following a trade for which a special heading is provided. For dealing businesses the rule is modified, General Labourers in these cases being included under the heading "General Labourer" (Order XXII.). Clerks not connected with manufacturing or dealing businesses are classified to the heading for the Service in which they are engaged. In professional occupations and their subordinate services Assistants are in some cases classed to special headings for subordinates.

In some cases women and children, chiefly widows or orphans, carrying on the business of their husbands or fathers, are classed under Occupations commonly followed only by adult males.

In the list of Occupations the Male designations only are given for convenience, except where the occupations are exclusively followed by Females.

TABLE 48.—ENGLAND AND WALES.—OCCUPATIONS of PERSONS, MALES and FEMALES, aged 10 YEARS and UPWARDS, distinguishing for FEMALES the UNMARRIED, MARRIED, and WIDOWED, 1911.

NOTE.—Table 50 gives the Occupations of Males and Females aged 10 Years and Upwards, in England and Wales, at Nine Groups of Ages, distinguishing for those engaged in certain industries the numbers returned as "Employers," "Working for Employers," "Working on Own Account," and "Others," also as "Working at Home"; Table 51 gives similar information for Married Males, and Table 52 for Unmarried, Married, and Widowed Females.

TABLE 52.—ENGLAND AND WALES.—OCCUPATIONS of FEMALES (UNMARRIED, MARRIED, and WIDOWED) AGED 10 YEARS AND UPWARDS, at NINE GROUPS of AGES, distinguishing for those engaged in certain industries the numbers returned as "EMPLOYERS," "WORKING FOR EMPLOYERS," "WORKING ON OWN ACCOUNT," and "OTHERS"; also as "WORKING AT HOME," 1911.

The figures for Unmarried stand first in each case and are printed in ordinary type, those for Married second and in French type, and those for Widowed third and in Italic type.
NOTE.—This Table is supplementary to Table 60, and contains only the occupational headings against which Females are shown in that Table.
The sign * prefixed to an occupational heading not shown separately denotes that all the Females classified to that heading in Table 50 were Unmarried,† that all were Married, ‡ that all were Widowed.

TABLE 53.—ENGLAND AND WALES.—FORMER OCCUPATIONS OF "PENSIONERS" and "RETIRED," distinguishing those enumerated in WORKHOUSES and LUNATIC ASYLUMS, and also, for FEMALES, the UNMARRIED, MARRIED, and WIDOWED, 1911.

NOTES.—(1) This Table is supplementary to Table 50, where the Pensioners and the Retired are shown simply as such without regard to their former Occupations. Inmates of Lunatic Asylums, or of Workhouses, when described as Insane and as having formerly followed some occupation, have been classed as "Retired," irrespective of age; also other formerly occupied Inmates of Workhouses or Workhouse Infirmaries if aged 60 years or upwards. Patients in Hospitals and Prisoners of all ages, on the assumption that their ordinary work has been relinquished for a time only, have not been dealt with as "Retired." No Officers in the Army or Navy are included in the "Retired."

(2) The large number of persons shown at end of Table under the head "Others (former occupation not stated)" at ages 65 and upwards is due to many Old Age Pensioners being returned simply as "Pensioners" without further description. Persons who were returned as "Old Age Pensioners" without particulars as to occupation are excluded from this Table.

(3) In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is numbered XXXVIII. in the Summary Volume.

TABLE 55.—ENGLAND AND WALES.—OCCUPATIONS OR FORMER OCCUPATIONS OF PAUPER INMATES of WORKHOUSE ESTABLISHMENTS, distinguishing for FEMALES the UNMARRIED, MARRIED, and WIDOWED, 1911.

NOTES.—(1) In this Table all Pauper Inmates of Workhouse Establishments have been classified according to their occupations or former occupations, as returned by the Chief Resident Officers. This Table consequently differs from the other Occupation Tables where Paupers aged 60 years and upwards (excepting those in Casual Wards), and Lunatics irrespective of age, have been classified as "Retired."

(2) In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is numbered XLII. in the Summary Volume.

TABLE 59.—ADMINISTRATIVE COUNTIES, COUNTY BOROUGHS, METROPOLITAN BOROUGHS, AND URBAN DISTRICTS OF WHICH THE POPULATION EXCEEDED 50,000 PERSONS.—PROPORTION PER 1,000 at various GROUPS OF AGES OF UNMARRIED, MARRIED, WIDOWED, and of MARRIED and ½WIDOWED FEMALES ENGAGED IN OCCUPATIONS, 1911.

NOTES—(1) The Table may be read thus :—In Bedfordshire 743 per 1,000 of the Unmarried Females aged 25 to 35 years, 166 per 1,000 of the Married Females, 718 per 1,000 of the Widowed Females, and 176 per 1,000 of the Married and Widowed Females at the same ages were returned as engaged in Occupations.
(2) The rates for Widowed at ages under 25, and for Married at ages 15-20 and 75 and upwards are calculated on very small numbers, and are therefore of but little value for the purpose of comparison.
(3) Where "0" is inserted in this Table it indicates that none of the females of that age and condition were occupied.
(4) The figures for the Administrative Counties exclude those for the County Boroughs, but include those for the other large towns.
(5) In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is numbered 31 in Appendix A. to the General Report.

TABLES 63–65.

(COMPARISON WITH PREVIOUS CENSUSES.)

TABLE 63.—DIFFERENCES in CLASSIFICATION of OCCUPATIONS as between 1911 and 1901 and as between 1901 and 1891.

TABLE 64.—OCCUPATIONS of MALES and FEMALES at each of the FOUR CENSUSES, 1881, 1891, 1901, and 1911.

TABLE 65.—OCCUPATIONS (Condensed List) of PERSONS, MALES, and FEMALES, AGED 10 YEARS and UPWARDS, and PROPORTIONS per MILLION of such POPULATION ENGAGED in the SEVERAL OCCUPATIONS, 1881, 1891, 1901, and 1911.

TABLE 63.—DIFFERENCES IN CLASSIFICATION OF OCCUPATIONS as between 1911 and 1901 and as between 1901 and 1891.

NOTE.—The complete list of Orders, Sub-Orders, and Headings adopted in 1911 and 1901 respectively are shown side by side in the Table, together with the changes as between the various headings. The classification was to a considerable extent recast in 1901, the arrangement as to Orders and Sub-Orders differing greatly from that in 1891, so that it is only possible to show in the Table the equivalent in the classification of 1891 to that of 1901. The reference numbers to the headings of the 1911 classification are given in column 1 and throughout the Table in ordinary type and those relating to the 1901 classification in column 4 and throughout the Table in italics. The principal changes of classification are set out in this Table, but it should be borne in mind that the figures under the various headings and groups of headings may also be affected by (1) changes in the mode of filling-up the Schedules, (2) changes in the form of the Schedule, and (3) changes in the method of Tabulation.

VII. Agriculture.	Note.—The classification under the headings of this Order was revised in 1901, after consultation with the Board of Agriculture. The principal changes are set out against the various headings, but it must be pointed out that the figures are also affected for purposes of comparison with 1891, special instructions having secured more definite description in the Census Schedules.

183	4. Electricians (undefined)

* These headings were in 1901 seriously affected for comparison with 1891 by the numerous changes of classification and by the returns being undoubtedly more definite in 1901 than 1891; approximately comparable figures may be obtained by amalgamating the headings numbered 86 to 97, but excluding from heading No. 86 the males under 15 years of age and all the females.

† Approximately comparable figures as between 1891 and 1901 may be obtained by grouping together headings numbered 115–117, 126, 128, 148–150, and 161.

‡ Owing to alterations in the method of return and to difficulties of classification, it is advisable when comparing the figures for 1911 and 1901 to make equivalent groupings of headings to those which are made for comparison between 1901 and 1891.

TABLE 64.—ENGLAND AND WALES.—OCCUPATIONS of MALES and FEMALES at each of the FOUR CENSUSES, 1881, 1891, 1901, and 1911.

NOTES.—(1) The principal changes of classification which affect the figures for purposes of comparison as between 1911 and 1901 and as between 1901 and 1891 are given in Table 63, while the classification of 1881 agrees with that for 1891 except where indicated. It has been found necessary, while preserving all the headings in the classification adopted in 1911—numbered from 1 to 472—to re-arrange some of them for combination with others, so that the consecutive order is not completely maintained, and those headings which appear out of their proper Order or Sub-Order are printed in italics. The figures printed in French type (e.g., 21,663) are not comparable with those in ordinary type for the particular headings against which they appear, but may serve to furnish approximately comparable figures for groups of occupations. There are, however, reasons, either in the somewhat different constitution of similar headings at the different censuses or in the manner in which persons were described (more accurately in 1901 than in previous Censuses, and again more accurately in 1911 than in 1901), which affect to some extent, though not very seriously as a rule, the value of the figures for comparative purposes. The fact that a considerable number of persons, who in 1881 and 1891 would have been returned under the indefinite term of "Labourer," "Mechanic," etc., were in 1901 and 1911 described more precisely, affects not only the numbers under such indefinite headings but also those under some definite headings, whilst the addition to the 1911 Schedule of a column for "Industry or Service" has had the further effect of causing transfer between some of the definite headings.

(2) In 1901 and 1911 many of the headings of Orders IX. to XXII. relate to Makers only, while in 1881 and 1891 similar headings included both Makers and Dealers; these cases are distinguished thus, †.

(3) A new instruction in the 1911 Schedule has had the effect of greatly increasing the return of women regularly engaged in assisting relatives in trade or business, and this has seriously affected the figures under many headings for Dealers for purposes of comparison as between 1901 and 1911.

(4) The figures for 1881 include children under 10 years of age who were returned as occupied, but the numbers were so small that their inclusion may be disregarded.

(5) In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is numbered 34 in Appendix A to the General Report.

* The usual order of the occupational headings, as shown by the reference numbers and by the numbers of the headings in the Sub-Order, has been departed from in this instance.

(a) Comparable figures may be obtained by adding to the number for 1911 the 941 Clergymen shown by Table 53 to have been classified as Retired.

(b) Comparable figures for the four Censuses may be obtained by including the males returned under heading No. 23 in 1901 and 1911.

(c) Comparable figures may be obtained by adding to the numbers for 1911 the 1,561 males and 18 females shown by Table 53 to have been classified as Retired.

(d) The numbers for 1881 include Farriers, who at the three succeeding Censuses were referred to heading No. 170.

(e) The numbers for 1881 include Medical Students, who at the three succeeding Censuses were referred to heading No. 472.

(f) The numbers for 1881 include Shorthand Clerks, who at the three succeeding Censuses were referred to No. 73.

(g) Approximately comparable figures may be obtained by adding to the numbers for 1911 the 2,215 male and 9 female Assistants to Architects returned under heading No. 48, as shown by Table 66.

(h) In 1881 all persons returned as Accountants were classed to this heading, but at the three succeeding Censuses cases in which the term "Accountant" appeared to signify only Bookkeeper or Accountant's Clerk were referred to heading No. 73.

(i) See Note (f) and Note (h).

* The usual order of the occupational headings, as shown by the reference numbers and by the numbers of the headings in the Sub-Order, has been departed from in this instance.

(a) The numbers under the different headings must not be regarded as strictly comparable, owing to revision of the classification of the subsidiary occupations comprised in them.
(b) Railway Engine Cleaners, included under this heading at the last three Censuses, were in 1881 referred to heading No. 87.
(c) See Note (b).
(d) See Note (b) on page 273.
(e) Figures not comparable, as the heading includes Warehousemen (undefined).

(f) For purposes of comparison headings 118–123 should be amalgamated, but excluding from No. 118 the males under 16 years and all the females, the latter having been much more completely returned in 1911 than in 1901, whilst in 1881 and 1891 they were included among the Unoccupied (heading No. 472).
(g) In 1881 all Fishermen who were present in England and Wales at the date of the Census, and all those who came into Port during the succeeding 14 days, were included under this heading; in 1891, 1901, and 1911, only those Fishermen who were either enumerated on the night of the Census, or came into Port the next day, were included in the Returns.

TABLE 64 (continued).—ENGLAND AND WALES.—OCCUPATIONS of MALES and FEMALES at each of the FOUR CENSUSES, 1881, 1891, 1901, and 1911.

* The usual order of the occupational headings, as shown by the reference numbers and by the numbers of the headings in the Sub-Order, has been departed from in this instance.

(a) The classification was remodelled in 1901 as regards Metals, Machines, Implements, and Conveyances. The comparative figures set out against the various headings are the best that can be given, but it should be specially noted that the numbers are affected not only by the differences in classification, which are set out in Table 63, but also by the changes in the method of return of occupations referred to in the Note at the head of this Table. Thus, for example, the advance in the number of male Erectors, Fitters, Turners, from 87,510 in 1891 to 159,173 in 1901, is doubtlessly in part gained at the expense of other headings in this Order or of the indefinite headings in Order XXII., while the decline in the number of male Blacksmiths, Strikers, from 136,762 in 1901 to 125,305 in 1911, is associated with transfer to other headings brought about by additional information given in the "industry" column of the 1911 schedule.

(b) The figures for 1881 and 1891 include Whitesmiths, who were referred to No. 212 in 1901, and to Nos. 200 and 212 in 1911. Whitesmiths were shown separately in 1881, when the numbers were as follows :—

—	Total.	Under 15.	Above 15.
Males	8,212	172	8,040
Females	41	1	40

(d) See Note (g) on page 206.

(e) Approximately comparable figures may be obtained by the addition of headings numbered 170, 210, and 212 (together with Nos. 159 and 165).

(f), (g), (h), (i) } Comparable figures can only be obtained by grouping the headings within each bracket.

(j) Ship Chandlers are included in the figures for 1881, but not for the succeeding Censuses. In 1891, when they were shown separately, only 727 males and 49 females were so returned.

* The usual order of the occupational headings, as shown by the reference numbers and by the numbers of the headings in the Sub-Order, has been departed from in this instance.

(a) The figures are affected for purposes of comparison by Sugar Boilers (undefined) having been included under this heading in 1881 and 1891, whereas in 1901 and 1911 they were more correctly classified under No. 415.
(b) Ostlers at Inns are included in the figures for 1881 ; in the three succeeding Censuses they were referred to No. 91.
(c) See general note at head of table.
(d) The figures for 1911 include Clergymen and Medical Practitioners, who were classed to Nos. 19 and 28 at previous Censuses.

TABLE 65.—ENGLAND AND WALES.—OCCUPATIONS (Condensed List) of PERSONS, MALES, and FEMALES, AGED 1881, 1891,

NOTE.—The figures are based upon those in Table 64. The changes in classification have necessitated the grouping of several occupational headings and the transference of headings in the Table, but in some cases an increase or decrease in the figures under these headings

INDUSTRIES OR SERVICES.

TABLE 66.—ENGLAND AND WALES.—OCCUPATIONS of MALES and FEMALES in various INDUSTRIES or SERVICES; Summary of OCCUPATIONAL DISTRIBUTION, 1911.

NOTES.—(1) The following Table gives the results of the tabulation of the occupations of the people in relation to the Industries or Services in which they were employed, supplementing in this respect the information given in the preceding tables, in which the classification is partly by personal occupations, and partly by industries or services which may comprise many distinct occupations. Headings are provided in the classification for a number of occupations, such as Clerks, Messengers, Porters, Carmen, Engine Drivers (which are common to many trades, industries or services), for certain professions, and for workmen (including labourers) following distinct trades, but persons other than those for whose occupation a special heading is provided are classed in the occupation tables to the manufacture, trade, or service with which they are connected. (See paragraph 2 of the general note to the occupation tables, page 153.)

(2) At previous censuses the question on the schedule was framed with a view to obtaining a definite statement of the personal occupation; a similar form of question was repeated at the present census, and the same general principles of classification were followed in order to secure comparability. This classification, though meeting most requirements, does not show the total numbers of persons connected with the various industries or services, and to remedy this defect an additional column (column 11) was inserted in the schedule for the "Industry or Service with which worker is connected."

(3) The industrial classification has been made on the assumption that the industry or service is indicated by the "nature of the employer's business," such an assumption being necessary in order to avoid the overlapping and confusion that would otherwise occur. For example, a person employed by a soap manufacturer to make cardboard boxes has been classified to the industry "soap making," but if employed by a cardboard box manufacturer in making boxes for the soap trade, to the industry cardboard box making. This necessary limitation has not been observed universally in filling up the schedules (see, for example, the note on page 290 with reference to Fishing), and it is impossible to say to what extent the figures are affected thereby. In the case of Brokers, Agents, and Factors who frequently carry on business on their own account or for principals engaged in different kinds of business it was impracticable to tabulate any information as to the business with which they were connected. In the textile trades, bleaching, printing, dyeing, etc., are largely carried on as separate businesses, and are therefore classified separately from the manufacture. In the case of workers in the employ of firms carrying on two or more industries, the information given on the schedule had to be accepted, but it is possible that in a number of cases the personal occupation given in column 10 of the schedule was not auxiliary to the business given in column 11 as that of the employer: thus a coke burner returned as employed by a colliery owner had to be regarded as an additional worker under "Coal Mining," though possibly engaged in one of two or more separate industries carried on by his employers.

(4) Considerable difficulty was experienced in regard to persons engaged in the service of the National Government and of Local Authorities. In many cases, notwithstanding the instructions on the schedule and in the enumerators' memorandum, the only information given in column 11 of the schedule was that the person was in "Government" or "Corporation" employment. This is especially noticeable in the case of labourers and artizans in government service, many of whom should doubtless be referred to one or other of the government manufacturing industries which are shown separately.

(5) In some kinds of undertakings, e.g., schools, gas works, tramways, harbours, docks, etc., which may be controlled either privately or by a Local Authority, the necessary distinction was not always made in the schedules, and the omission had to be supplied as far as possible by inquiry of the local officers or by consulting books of reference.

(6) Another cause of confusion lies in the indefiniteness of nomenclature as applied to industries; thus a worker might be quite uncertain whether to describe his employer as a "Printer" or as a "Manufacturing Stationer." Moreover, a term in general use may be used locally in a somewhat different sense, as for example "Iron Foundry," which is sometimes used to describe works where General Engineering and Machine Making is carried on. For these reasons some industries which are shown separately in the tables are also shown in combination.

(7) The distinction between "Makers" and "Dealers," which is made as far as possible in classifying occupations, cannot be carried to the same extent in the case of industries, both making and dealing being frequently combined in the same business. Thus, for example, plumbers and gasfitters are employed by ironmongers, and in such cases it has been necessary to classify the "makers" as additional workers to the "dealer" heading. In many manufacturing businesses the sales department is quite distinct from the producing departments, and a clerk, for example, may be permanently employed in one department or another; such employees were, however, usually returned as working for manufacturers and were classed accordingly, although their work may have been solely in connexion with sales. Commercial Travellers, even when returned as employed by a manufacturer, have, however, been assigned to the "dealer" headings relating to the commodities in which they dealt.

(8) In the case of employees of firms engaged in two or more independent industries, the personal occupation may not be followed solely in connexion with any one of them, and the classification under the principal industry is made on the assumption that the several industries have been returned in the order of their importance.

(9). The numbers of domestic indoor servants included as additional workers in many of the industries or services are those who were assumed to be not in private employment.

(10) In the arrangement of the Table the list of Industries or Services follows, with slight modifications, the order of the occupations in the occupation tables. By showing as separate headings in the industry tables those occupations, such as clerks and commercial travellers, which are not related to any one industry or service, all the numbers in the occupation tables are accounted for in columns 2 and 25. In some cases Industries or Services are divided to show "National Government," "Local Authority," or "Railway Company" services as distinct from others, but in all cases the total number of workers in the industry or service is also shown. A summary of all employees of the National Government (excluding the Army and Navy), of Local Authorities, and of Railway Companies is given on pages 312 to 315.

(11) The very large number of combinations of personal occupations and industries made it necessary to condense within narrow limits the number of personal occupations for which details could be given in the industry tables, and it was considered desirable to classify the "additional workers" in the several industries into three main groups, viz:—

Group A, relating to persons engaged principally in production, repair, or maintenance, and comprising workers (other than dealers) in the occupations of Orders IX. to XXI., and in Sub-Orders 3 and 5 of Order XXII.

Group C, relating to persons engaged in domestic offices or services (Order IV.) and in board, lodging, catering, etc. (Order XX., Sub-Order 4).

Group B, relating to persons engaged in occupations other than those in Groups A and C, and comprising mainly those in commercial occupations (Order V. and Dealers in Orders IX.–XXII.), conveyance (Order VI.), and professional occupations (Order III.), together with a few in agriculture (Order VII.).

All the additional workers are shown under their respective groups in columns 3 to 20 for males and columns 26 to 31 for females, the totals for each sex being shown in columns 21 and 32. Thus the totals of columns 2 and 21 and of columns 25 and 32 show the gross totals of males and females in each industry or service. From these totals are deducted the numbers classified to the occupations comprised in each industry or service, but following such occupations as "additional workers" in connexion with some other industry or service.

(12) It is necessary to point out that when several industries or services are shown separately and are also combined, as in the case of Ironfounding, Boiler Making, Engineering and Machine Making, the total of additional workers within the group is reduced, but the net total is unaffected: thus, an ironfounder may be an "additional worker" to a boiler maker, and a boiler maker to an ironfounder, but neither is an additional worker if the industry taken comprises both occupations.

(13) The references to occupational headings relate to the arrangement of Orders (Roman numerals), Sub-Orders (French type), and Headings ordinary type) of the occupational classification (see Table 48). In the list of occupations the male designations only are given for convenience, except where the occupations are exclusively followed by females.

TENEMENTS.

TABLES 67-72.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

(i) The figures in the following tables relate, as far as possible, to tenements in the occupation of private families only.

A "dwelling" or "tenement" was defined in the instructions issued to the enumerators as "a place in which any person entitled to receive a schedule usually lives," and the persons entitled to receive a schedule, and therefore for census purposes regarded as heads of families, were stated to be: (a) Every head of a family occupying the whole or part of a house or flat. (b) Every separate lodger occupying a room or rooms in a house or flat (where two or more lodgers shared a room, or rooms, they were treated for census purposes as a single family). (c) Every resident caretaker of a house to be let, of a shop or of other business premises, or of a public building. (d) Every outdoor servant (with or without family) occupying separately any building or rooms in a building, such as a lodge, gardener's cottage, dwelling-rooms over a coach-house or stable, etc., which is detached from the house to which it belongs or has no internal communication therewith. (e) Every resident proprietor, manager or head of an hotel, club, business establishment, school, etc. (f) The chief resident officer of every institution. (g) The master or person in charge of every barge, boat, or other vessel. The families under headings (a) to (d) have been treated as "private families," those under heading (e) as "private" only when the domestic members of the occupier's family exceed the non-domestic (i.e., trade servants, visitors, scholars, etc.), and those under headings (f) and (g) have been treated as "non-private" families.

(ii) Table 67 may be read as follows: Of a total of 8,005,290 families or separate occupiers enumerated in England and Wales, 7,943,137 were private families, and of these 254,710 were enumerated in tenements of one room, 660,472 in tenements of two rooms, and so on. The 254,710 families enumerated in tenements of one room included 122,798 consisting of one person each, 74,077 of two persons each, and so on, and contained an aggregate population of 482,722.

TABLE 67.—ENGLAND AND WALES.—TENEMENTS IN THE OCCUPATION OF PRIVATE FAMILIES:—Classified by Numbers of Rooms and by Numbers of Occupants in England and Wales and in the Aggregates of Administrative Counties, County Boroughs, Urban Districts (inclusive and exclusive of London and the County Boroughs) and Rural Districts, 1911.

Note.—In the Report on the Census of 1901, the corresponding Table is numbered XIX. in the Summary Volume.

TABLE 73.—ENGLAND and WALES.—AGGREGATES of URBAN DISTRICTS, RURAL DISTRICTS, ADMINISTRATIVE COUNTIES, and COUNTY BOROUGHS.—CLASSIFICATION OF BUILDINGS; HOUSES, SEPARATE OCCUPIERS, and POPULATION, 1901 and 1911, distinguishing for 1911 the various kinds of BUILDINGS and the POPULATION enumerated therein and also BUILDINGS not used as DWELLINGS.

NOTES.—(1.) In columns 2 and 3 the numbers of inhabited buildings used as dwellings are equivalent to the numbers of inhabited houses tabulated at previous censuses; and the numbers of uninhabited buildings, to the numbers of houses without inmates on census night—such houses were separately distinguished in the 1901 returns as "in occupation" and "not in occupation." A "house" has, in the reports upon the censuses of 1851–1901, been held to be "all the space within the external and party walls of a building" and this definition applies also to the "buildings used as dwellings" of the following table. Temporary huts accommodating navvies, &c., and sheds and barns in which vagrants were found to have passed the night, are not included in the total of buildings used as dwellings, these structures not having been reckoned as "houses" in previous census reports.

(2.) The classification of the kinds of buildings is based on descriptions furnished by the local enumerators; in some cases, especially as regards the distinction between a flat and an ordinary dwelling-house occupied by more than one family, differences in practice are almost inevitable; the numbers under the several headings must therefore be regarded as approximate.

(3.) In order to conform with the definition of a house (see paragraph 1) thereby rendering the figures comparable with those of previous censuses, the numbers of separate "blocks" of flats are given in column 5, while the numbers of separate flats or tenements therein are separately shown in column 12. It should be observed, however, that a "block" may consist of a single flat over a fock-up shop.

(4.) The numbers in column 8 relate only to those business premises (other than shops) in which sleeping accommodation for caretakers or others is provided.

(5.) The "Institutions" shown in column 9 include, in addition to those which are given in Table 17, such places as schools and colleges, convents, orphanages, and almshouses.

(6.) The numbers of buildings not used as dwellings have not been tabulated at previous censuses, except in the case of Places of Worship concerning which information was collected at the time of the census of 1851; the figures in column 14 do not include buildings in course of erection, nor buildings in which sleeping accommodation is provided, the latter being included under their appropriate headings in columns 6–10.

TABLE 85.—ADMINISTRATIVE COUNTIES and LARGE TOWNS.—RELATION between BIRTHPLACE and RESIDENCE in ADMINISTRATIVE COUNTIES, COUNTY BOROUGHS, and URBAN DISTRICTS of which the POPULATIONS exceeded 50,000 PERSONS at the CENSUS of 1911.

NOTES.—(1). The Table may be read as follows:—Of 1,000 Males enumerated in England and Wales, 640 were natives of the Administrative County or County Borough in which they were enumerated; of 1,000 Males enumerated in Bedfordshire, 696 were born in that County, and so on; and of 1,000 Male natives of England and Wales enumerated therein, 671 were born in the Administrative County or County Borough in which they were enumerated; of 1,000 Male natives of Bedfordshire enumerated in England and Wales, 631 were enumerated in that County.
(2). The figures for the Administrative Counties exclude those for the County Boroughs, but include those for the other large towns.
(3). In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is numbered 40 in Appendix A to the General Report.

TABLE 87.—ADMINISTRATIVE COUNTIES AND LARGE TOWNS.—MALES and FEMALES returned as TOTALLY BLIND, TOTALLY DEAF, DEAF and DUMB, LUNATIC, IMBECILE, and FEEBLE-MINDED, in each ADMINISTRATIVE COUNTY, COUNTY BOROUGH, METROPOLITAN BOROUGH, and other URBAN DISTRICT of which the POPULATION exceeded 50,000 PERSONS at the CENSUS of 1911.

NOTES.—(1). Persons returned as suffering from more than one infirmity are, in this table, only included in the section relating to "Combined Infirmities."
(2). The figures for the Administrative Counties exclude those for the County Boroughs, but include those for the other large towns.
(3). The figures for the Deaf and Dumb include all persons stated only to be Dumb, viz., 1,129 persons (670 males and 459 females).
(4). The numbers of persons returned in some administrative areas as suffering from one or other infirmity are augmented by the presence of institutions in which some or all of the patients are admitted from other areas.
(5). In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is numbered I. in the Summary Volume.

TABLE 88.—ADMINISTRATIVE COUNTIES (TOGETHER WITH ASSOCIATED COUNTY BOROUGHS).—MALES and FEMALES returned as suffering from certain INFIRMITIES, 1901 and 1911.

NOTES.—(1) The figures for 1901 and 1911 relate to the Administrative Counties (inclusive of County Boroughs) as constituted at the date of each Census; the alterations in boundary which took place between 1901 and 1911 are not, however, sufficient to affect the value for purposes of comparison of the figures relating to the several Infirmities.
(2). Persons returned as suffering from more than one infirmity are included in the section relating to each separate infirmity, and also in the section relating to "Combined Infirmities."
(3). The Schedule in 1901 did not require persons who were Deaf without being Dumb to mention the fact of their deafness; the figures for the Deaf at that Census are therefore incomplete.
(4). The figures for the Deaf and Dumb include all persons stated to be Dumb, whether otherwise afflicted or not.
(5). See also Note 4 Table 87.

* The City of York is situated partly in each of the three Ridings, and is, therefore, shown separately for convenience.
† The Brecon and Radnor Lunatic Asylum was opened for the reception of inmates between the Census of 1901 and that of 1911.

TABLE 89.—ENGLAND and WALES.—OCCUPATIONS OF THE BLIND, AND OF THE DEAF AND DUMB, AGED 10 YEARS AND UPWARDS; distinguishing for MALES the MARRIED and UNMARRIED or WIDOWED, and for FEMALES the UNMARRIED, MARRIED, and WIDOWED, 1911.

NOTES.—(1) The figures for the Blind include all persons who were returned also as Deaf and Dumb and Deaf or Dumb, Lunatic, Imbecile or Feeble-minded; and those for the Deaf and Dumb include all who were returned as "Dumb" (whether otherwise afflicted or not), and, in addition, those who were suffering also from any other of the specified infirmities.
(2) It is probable that where persons are returned as following an occupation inconsistent with their infirmity they may be employers of other persons, or the word "Retired" or "Formerly" may have been omitted from the Schedule; in a few cases such omissions, where it is obvious from the nature of the return, have been rectified. All inmates of Workhouses who were aged 60 years and upwards, and all inmates of Lunatic Asylums, for whom an occupation was returned, have been classified as "Retired."
(3.) In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is numbered LI. in the Summary Volume.

TABLE 92.—ENGLAND AND WALES.—SUMMARY

NOTES.—(1) For the purposes of this Table, the figures for certain Administrative Counties have been combined; the figures for the City the figures for the County Boroughs of Stockport, Bristol and Great Yarmouth, which, according to the Local Government Act of 1888, are populations, viz., Cheshire, Gloucestershire and Norfolk respectively. (2) In the Report on the Census of 1901 the corresponding Table is

County.	For Registration Counties.		For Administrative Counties, inclusive of Associated County Boroughs.
	Increase or Decrease of Population per cent. in previous decennium.		Persons per Square Mile.	Percentage of Population resident in Urban and Rural Districts.		Females to 1,000 Males.	Age-distribution of 1,000 Persons enumerated.						Of 1,000 of each Sex aged 15 to 45 years the number of Married Males and Females.		Of 1,000 Persons enumerated in each County the number born thereout.	Of 1,000 Natives of each County enumerated in England and Wales the number Resident in the County.
	By excess of Births over Deaths.	According to Census enumeration.		Urban.	Rural.		0—	5—	15—	25—	45—	65 years and upwards.	Males.	Females.

* The figures for 1821 and 1831 are exclusive of the Army, Navy, and Merchant Service at home.

† For the purposes of this Table the boundaries of the Principality of Wales are taken as defined in the reign of Henry VIII. The figures differ slightly from those in Table 3, owing to the transfer in 1844 of a detached part of Herefordshire to Radnorshire.

‡ These figures have been proportionately adjusted to include 5,016 persons who were travelling on Railways and Canals on the night of the Census of 1841, but who were not apportioned to counties in the Census Volume for that year.

§ Excluding land covered by the larger rivers, lakes, and tide ways.

TABLE 99.—BRITISH EMPIRE.—AREA AND POPULATION OF THE UNITED KINGDOM AND OF THE [illegible] COLONIES, DEPENDENCIES, &c., DISTINGUISHING THE NATIVES OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

NOTES.—(1) The figures, except those marked *, are derived from Census Returns, with inclusion in the population, when possible, of Soldiers and of persons on board vessels; the birthplaces of temporary residents were frequently not returned and therefore the figures for natives of the United Kingdom in such Colonies, &c., are deficient to this extent. Some of the figures obtained from Census Returns (African ones especially) are approximations only.

(2) Where — is inserted in the Table it signifies that particulars are not available.
